

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

[0081] A digital image is automatically combined with text data by automatically classifying the image according to a predetermined set of categories, and automatically selecting text data from a repository, wherein the selected text data match the category of the image according to a predetermined criterion.